"Her dedication is limitless. She is a very hard worker and aware of the balance between demanding artistic needs, feasibility and timing. She knows when to insist - rather than fight - for a creative idea and knows when to be flexible without ever losing passion or enthusiasm.

She is also very alert to actors' needs and knows how to handle them and their whims with a perfect mix of gentleness and authority. As for managing her staff, she is motivating and she challenges. And, last but not the least, especially when working in difficult conditions: she's a lot fun."
